REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board of Hooksett:

My seventh annual report covers a year of improvement in transportation and other facilities, in the extension and supervision of music instruction in all schools, and in a higher achievement in the fundamentals—particularly in English.

Three hundrd and fifty-five pupils were enrolled in the local elementary schools during the year ending with June 1940. This year a definite decrease in the primary grades has enabled us to close one of the two rooms of the Neal School. This is now operated as a one-room mixed school of twenty-eight pupils.

The number attending public high schools remains approximately eighty. Since there are more than forty pupils in the present eighth grade, the number attending high schools in September, 1941, will approach one hundred. Hooksett's present contracts with the Concord and Manchester high schools call for a tuition payment of $100 per pupil, which indicates a budget item of $10,000. for tuitions. However, the increasing attendance of Hooksett pupils at Pembroke Academy, where the average rate of tuition per pupil is approximately $80, reduces the estimated sum for tuition to $9,000. It will be at least five years before the decrease in enrollment in the elementary schools can be expected to materially reduce the annual appropriation for high school instruction.

Statistics compiled by the State Board of Education show that the cost per pupil in the elementary schools of Hooksett is still among the lowest in the state, being $58.56 against the median cost of $81.85 per pupil for the whole state.

In September, 1940, teacher changes occurred in the Village and Hackett Hill Schools.

Miss Irene Menihane of Methuen, Massachusetts, was elected to Grades V and VI of the Village School. Miss Menihane completed in 1938 the four-year elementary course at Lowell State Teachers College. Her practice teaching and substitute work were done in Lowell and Methuen and included experience in both graded and rural schools.

Following the release of Mr. Robert L. Stevenson from Grades VII and VIII at the Village, the vacancy was filled by the transfer of Mr. Leonard R. Nisula, formerly teacher of the Hackett Hill School. Mr. Nisula withdrew in November and was succeeded in the Village School by Mr. Henry W. Thorn, Jr. of Rhinebeck, New York. Mr. Thorn was graduated in 1939 from the State Normal School at Onconta, New York. In addition to one semester of practice teaching, Mr. Thorn served last year during one semester as substitute principal of a small grammar school.

Miss Mary D. Monahan of Lowell, Massachusetts, was elected to the Hackett Hill School. Following graduation from the four-year elementary course at Lowell State Teachers College, Miss Monahan taught last year in the primary grades of Newark, Vermont.

Due to marriage two teachers withdrew from full-time positions last June — Mrs. Dorothy Kimball Smyrl of the Neal Primary School, which is now closed, and Mrs. Taschia Platek Dunlap of Grades V and VI in the Village School.

Through the part-time employment of Mrs. Dunlap who completed at Plymouth Teachers College the training course in music supervision, it became possible this year to give music instruction to all pupils in Hooksett. Mrs. Dunlap meets the pupils of each school weekly, gives an hour's instruction, and outlines for each teacher the music work for the coming week. In addition to the regular music instruction the supervisor and teachers have organized flute and harmonica choruses that have aroused and sustained much needed interest in reading music.

By combining with Deerfield and Dunbarton, where Mrs. Dunlap is similarly employed as music supervisor, Hooksett's share of the expense is only three hundred dollars.

Adequate transportation to the Village and Hackett Hill Schools is now provided by an approved school bus with ample accommodations for thirty children. By a slight adjustment of school hours, double trips are avoided and all children, living two or more miles from school, are conveyed home promptly at the close of the session.

Lunchroom facilities at the Village, where sixty children are now served a hot lunch daily, have been improved by the installation of a white enameled kitchen sink, dish shower, and drying rack. Both hot and cold water are available. Three dozen steel folding chairs were added recently. These make possible the seating of all children and the observance of simple rules of table etiquette.

All schools, having an established lunch program, are continuing the use of food materials supplied from surplus commodities. In several schools commodities are confined to fresh, canned, and dried fruits. Other schools, that have available cooking facilities, use in addition to the fruit, ham, bacon, eggs, rice, beans, butter, lard, flour, potatoes and evaporated milk. All the children who remain at noon are served alike. Those who are able to contribute either in money or in supplementary foods such as new milk, sugar, cocoa, and vegetables are required to do so. Adequate nutrition, long recognized as contributing to achievement in school work, is now also emphasized as essential to a nation's defense.

Since mid-year tool equipment and other materials for instruction in manual training have been provided for the use of boys in Grades VII and VIII at the Village School. This building contains a large and well lighted room in the basement, particularly designed for practical arts instruction. Twenty or more boys are enrolled in these classes. Such training in hand skills begets neatness and accuracy, correlates with the use of Arithmetic, and facilitates the pupil's progress in the trade and industry courses which he finds in high school or academy.

Achievement in fundamentals, indicated by the battery of tests given annually to all pupils in Grade V and to particularly proficient, or exceptionally retarded, pupils in the three upper grades, shows an average above the standards set up in English. This applies to many of the pupils coming from homes where a foreign language is usually spoken. Of the seven fundamental subjects—reading, arithmetic, English, literature, geography, history, and spelling — achievement in arithmetic and spelling rated the lowest. Yet in annual spelling competition with the other five districts of the Union the Hooksett team failed of a perfect score by only four out of 150 words. Gloria Lyons and Pauline Broek of Lincoln Park and Benjamin LaSalle of the village School comprised the team that won second honors.

With the exception of the Neal schoolhouse, which needs painting on the outside, and repainting of outside trim of the Village building, the general repair of the five schoolhouses in use is excellent. With the exception of the teacher's desk in the primary room at Martin's, the schools are adequately equipped with furniture.

Much credit is due the janitors who attend not only to the heating and cleaning of their buildings, but also give prompt and careful attention to minor items of adjustment, which, if overlooked or neglected lead to extensive repairs. Well paid and efficient janitors soon prove an asset in the maintenance of buildings and equipment.

Of thirty-eight pupils graduated from the 8th grade last June, twenty-eight entered high schools or similar institutions; three are employed — some part time — as garage attendant, store clerk, and state highway employee; one is studying Music; six are engaged at home either on farm or in housework. Those who have enabled this group to continue in school or to find occupations, more or less in the field of individual interests or public need, are contributors to the welfare of the individual and of the community.

In a circular letter, dated December 18, 1940, and addressed to all educators, John W. Studebaker, U. S. Commissioner of Education says, "Look at the record: In Germany every employable person at work or in training.... technical and vocational schools running at capacity in the captive countries.... skilled workers being shipped into Germany."

The first line of American defense begins in its homes and in the public schools. The cooperation of every citizen, interested in these institutions, is needed and appreciated.

Respectfully submitted,
GEORGE H. HARMON,

February 17, 1941.

Superintendent of Schools.
